Great Growth Of Voltaire Street

NOTABLE TRANSFERS OF VALUABLE BUSINESS FRONTAGE DURING PAST WEEK

With the assurance from the owner of the frontage on Voltaire street just east of the Mairiot building between Bacon and Cable, that he is going to erect a duplicate of the concrete building just completed by Pete Calouides, and with the transfer of ownership of several other properties on Voltaire during the past week, business in that lively section has taken an added impulse that speaks well for Ocean Beach.

An inspection of the entire district adjoining Voltaire this week discloses the fact that much progress has been made in the erection of a number of new buildings now under course of construction. The buildings in that vicinity are being built of a type and design that is a great improvement upon many that were erected in the past, and if this condition obtains throughout the year many residences of a class that will compare favorably with other and more highly restricted sections of the city will appear in this progressive beach district.

It would seem that all the property owners of the entire northern section of Ocean Beach have a common desire to make that end of town a delightful district to live in, and the co-operation that is given by one and all is exemplified throughout that whole part of town in clean streets, clean lots, a desire to make Voltaire street a great business center and to have dwellings to be constructed hereafter of a type that will create a favorable impression to all who may be attracted.

The business men along Voltaire street are bending their every effort to bring this thoroughfare to the front, as possibly the greatest business street on all Point Loma, and some believe that if they continue their efforts in the future with as great impetus and as vigorously as they have recently, they will be successful in their endeavors. They certainly have made an excellent start.

CHANGE BUSINESS BUILDING FROM FRAME TO STUCCO

Contractor G. M. Miller, who is constructing a double store building for Dr. E. Tinsley at the corner of Cable and Voltaire streets, is making rapid progress on the work and states that the plans have been changed to include a stucco exterior finish of attractive design. Contractor Miller has leased the houses in the rear of the new building for his own occupancy and will remodel it along modern lines. He has recently purchased a new "Beaver" saw and is cutting the material for several new buildings in that locality.

NEW BARBER SHOP OPENED BY BENTLEY N. MOSES

In the center store of the handsome and substantial new concrete block building at 4957 Voltaire street, Bentley N. Moses announces the opening of an up-to-date sanitary barber shop. Modern fixtures have been installed and a cheery welcome with expert service awaits all customers. It's the only shop in the immediate locality and popular prices will prevail for ladies' gentlemen and children's haircutting. Mr. Moses has recently arrived here on his second visit from Denver, Colorado, to become a permanent resident of Ocean Beach.

Getting The City Nearer To The Beaches

BENEFICIAL VERSUS DETIMENTAL HIGHWAY ROUTES PLANNED TO CITY

It's claimed to be in the cards that a more direct highway route from Ocean Beach to San Diego will be an established fact when the present plans call for a wide boulevard, southeast end of Mission Bay are completed. It is stated that the present plans call for a wide boulevard, connecting with West Point Loma boulevard and extending to the Marine Base, almost in a straight line and practically paralleling the street railway system across the flats. It is also asserted that De Foe, Cable and Bacon streets, when all paving is completed, will prove great feeders to and from the new boulevard, which will be greatly beneficial to Ocean Beach, particularly, and the beach districts in general.

ON THE SESQUI LAGOONS

Here are Americans, visitors to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, riding about the lagoons in an Italian craft, a gondola, from which they view the buildings and displays from many lands. In the distance can be seen the mammoth Sesqui Stadium; to the right is the signal tower of the United States Coast Guard building and exhibit, and to the left is one of the Japanese pagodas which dot the exposition grounds. The Grecian pavilion is one of the permanent structures on the site before the city government decided to build the Sesqui at the front door of the great Philadelphia Navy Yard. The Exposition continues until December 1.

New Police Station At Ocean Beach

SERGT. G. W. CHURCHMAN SECURES LARGER QUARTERS IN SUTCLIFFE BUILDING

Keeping pace with the rapid growth of the beach districts under his jurisdiction, Sergeant George W. Churchman is perfecting arrangements to move the Ocean Beach police sub-station from the present location on Abbott street to the Sutcliffe building on the corner of Santa Monica avenue and Abbott street. The official removal will take place on the first of next month. Despite the fact that the city is broke and the operating departments balked at any extra expenditure during this year, Sergeant Churchman and his loyal men overcame the situation by pitching in and doing the actual work of building partitions, painting and remodeling the new quarters during their off hours. And they certainly have made a very creditable job of it.

The larger store building on the corner of Santa Monica avenue and Abbott street, opposite the merry-go-round, has been about evenly divided into four connecting rooms. The main office and booking department will occupy the immediate entrance and adjoining will be the locker and private interview room. The third room is being finely fitted for a first-aid quarters and is well lighted with a large skylight, while the rear of the building contains the cell cage and storage facilities, with a separate entrance on the avenue.

MANAGERIAL CHANGES IN BEACH LUMBER INDUSTRY

William H. Rabsahl, who has general supervision of the Western Lumber Company's manifold interests throughout the beach and Point Loma territory, announces several important changes in the branch managerial forces. Merrill Edmiston is now assisting Manager "Bill" Rabsahl in the Ocean Beach headquarters, replacing Joseph E. Restine, who has been promoted to the local management of the Pacific Beach branch, while Clyde Hawkins assumes charge of the Mission Beach establishment in place of W. L. Loizeaux, who enters another field.

Manager Rabsahl states that building progress in the beach and bay sections bids fair to break all records, and O. B. Lumber Company and its branches are fully prepared to meet any and all demands.

NEW KRAFT BUILDING

TO BE COSTLY STRUCTURE AT BACON AND NEWPORT

With the positive assurance of an Ocean Beach branch bank of the Southern Trust and Commerce bank, to be built and ready for business by next January first, as exclusively told in "The Beach News" last week, another great improvement is now proclaimed for Newport avenue and Bacon street. Plans are being perfected for the early construction of the new Kraft building on the southwest corner of those two main thoroughfares. The proposed business structure will occupy fifty feet on Newport avenue and extend along Bacon street to the alley 140 feet. The present wooden buildings on part of the site will be removed and a fine two-story hollow tile stucco building will be erected along modern lines.

The new Kraft building will be built by Fred H. Kraft, proprietor of Kraft's Drug Store, who is also planning to have a handsome new residence constructed on Cape May avenue, between Cable and DeFoe streets. Mr. Kraft states that the details of the transfer of the property on his business corner are practically completed and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy early in the new year.

The street floor of the modern new structure will be occupied by Kraft's drug store on the corner while the adjacent large store on Newport avenue will be leased to Bowker & Deuel of the Strand Radio and Appliance Co. There will be five stores on the Bacon street side of the building, and the second story will be divided into professional offices on the front, facing the corner, with apartments built in the rear toward the alley.

It is stated that the new Kraft building, including the valuable corner plot, will represent an investment of over $50,000. It will be practically fireproof, with concrete columns supporting steel girders, and every effort will be made toward designing and constructing one of the most magnificent and substantial business buildings in the beach district.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

An example of what, thrift, hard work and good management will do to provide necessities and some comforts for a wife and family has been demonstrated by P. W. Perdue, a former resident of Texas, who came to Ockdale, Stanislaus county, about two years ago. During the past year he has been employed by a rock company and worked his regular shift at the company plant and at odd times has planted and cared for a cotton crop of eleven acres one-half mile from the city limits. Most of Perdue's work at the plant was on night shift and after getting his sleep and rest in the mornings, a part of the day was spent in taking care of the crop. The cotton is now maturing and with the aid of two small sons he has gathered about 400 pounds and open bolls are seen all over the patch. Perdue estimates the yield at three-fourths of a bale to acre where irrigation was used.

This is a gain of 2,059 or 5.4 per cent. The semi-annual marriage figures reveal an increase of 3 per cent. The first half of this year witnessed 26,675 weddings in the state as against 25,923 in the corresponding 1925 period. The 1926 death toll was given as 30,382, an increase of 2.2 per cent. THUG STRANGLES NEWARK WOMAN; HUSBAND SLEEPS

Aged Man, Almost Helpless, Awakes to Find Wife Strangled.

Newark, N. J.—The sunlight was streaming across the floor of Harry Tidor's bedroom in the rear of his store at 149 Bergen street when he awoke. By that he knew that it was after seven o'clock. Tidor, who is seventy-four years old, is deaf and the keen observation of those so afflicted had been intensified during the two weeks that he had been confined to his bed by a stroke of paralysis.

He sniffed for the odor of coffee, confident that his wife, Mary, had followed her usual custom of getting up at six o'clock to start breakfast and open the store. He could detect neither the odor of the coffee nor the "singing" smell which came from the oil stove when it was first lighted. By these things he knew that his wife was still in bed and he rolled to his side to confirm by sight the evidence of his other senses.

Dazzled by sunlight. At first the sunlight dazzled him, though he could discern the figure of his wife in her bed. He called to her in his croaking, slurring voice. There was no reply.

As the old man's eyes became more accustomed to the light, he saw that the attitude of his wife was strained and that there was something strange about her face. It was livid against the white of the pillow and beneath it her throat was swathed with white. "Ma'y," called the paralytic, "Ma'y." The figure on the bed a few feet away lay motionless and silent, contorted as though in agony.

With the unthinking effort of panic, Tidor, who had not left his bed since he was stricken with paralysis two weeks ago, flung himself to the floor and began to writhe across its sunlit surface toward his wife's bed. It took him several seconds, but he reached it, flinging his hand against one of hers, as he lay on the floor. The hand was cold, the arm rigid.

Helpless, now that his worst fear was realized, Tidor groveled on the floor beside his dead wife and shouted until he was hoarse and his voice rattled in his throat. His neighbor, Mrs. William Stevens, who lives on the floor above, was at the door, knocking and calling to him, but he could not hear her and continued to shout.

Policemen Summoned. She got a policeman and between them they got the aged man into a chair in another room where he would not have to look upon the body of his wife. Then detectives were called.

Mrs. Tidor, who was seventy-two years old, had been strangled by a towel, which was knotted about her throat. The ends had been thrust into her mouth as a gag. The stub of a cigarette lay on the floor. The stranger had smoked it to within less than half an inch of its end as he worked. A package of similar cigarettes lay near by.

A window had been forced as it had been twice before when burglars looted the little store. This time, however, either the somewhat stentorian breathing of the paralytic, or the gleam of his eyeballs, over which the lids do not drop completely in sleep, had got on the nerves of the intruder.

He had not visited the store. Its stock was intact and the cash register, which contained a small sum, had not been opened. Forty-two dollars lay in plain sight on a bureau in the bedroom, but that had not been taken either.

SCHOOL DAYS

Mother's Cook Book

Cheerfulness and content are great beautifiers and are famous preservers of youthful looks; depend upon it.

DESSERT SUGGESTIONS

A DISH which is easy to prepare and good to look at, is:

Banana Princess Pudding.

Remove the skin and mash six ripe bananas and put into a greased plate. Add a layer of apricot jam and bake in a moderate oven. Whip the whites of two eggs, adding four tablespoons of sugar and cover the pudding; brown in a hot oven until golden brown. Serve hot or cold. Garnish with cherries.

Banana and Tapioca Sponge.

Stir half a cupful of minute tapioca into two cupfuls of boiling water. Cook half an hour in a double boiler, stirring occasionally. Add one-half teaspoonful of salt, the grated rind and juice of a lemon and one-half cupful of sugar. Fold in the whites of two eggs, beaten light, and cook until the egg is set. Remove the skins from four bananas, and slice. Fold these evenly through the tapioca. Serve hot with whipped cream.

Lemon Cream Sherbet.

Take three-fourths of a cupful of lemon juice, four cupfuls of water, two egg whites, one cupful of cream, two cupfuls of sugar. Boil the sugar and water together for five minutes, then cool. Add the lemon juice, strain and partly freeze, stir in the cream and the stiffly beaten egg whites, then finish freezing.

New England Pies.

The New England pies have an individuality all their own; it is the spoonful or more of molasses which is added to all berry pies.

Bridge Pie.

Take one cupful of dates, three-fourths of a cupful of nuts, one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of butter, four tablespoons of milk, two egg yolks. Mix all together and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, flavor with vanilla and bake in one crust.

Grape Juice Pudding.

Take one and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatin, add one-fourth of a cupful of cold water; after soaking for a few minutes add one cupful of boiling water. Add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, the juice of one lemon, two oranges and one cupful of grape juice. Allow to set, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, whipping all to a froth. Serve without sauce.

RESEMBLANCES

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

ALL suddenly I sometimes come Upon a face that seems like some I used to know—within the press Of crowds, before I think, or guess, A face appears, and disappears, And, for an instant, all the years Are all forgotten: "There is Jim!" Or "There is Gertrude!" Then, from dim

Old days, old grief reminds me, "No; I'm sorry, but it is not so. Your friends are gone beyond recall—These are resemblances, is all."

But, you who look so much like Jim, Do you, in truth, resemble him? And you who look so much like her—Why, even choose the self-same fur To wear, and like the self-same things—

When such a moment memory brings, I wonder if you walk the way With her glad laughter every day, And work so well, and play so well? Ah, yes, if truth the truth could tell, I wonder are you worthy of The faces that we used to love?

Yes, when the motley crowd passes on, And when your faces, too, are gone, I pray that you, who wear her look, Take up each task as once she took Her own, as sweetly, patiently. And you, in whom old Jim I see, I hope a bit like Jim you live, And smile, and toil, and give, and give. And sometimes, too, I stand apart And ask myself, ask my own heart, "Are you as kind, as clean, as true, As some one else that some one once knew?"

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

At Twenty-one: Rupert Hughes Took a Flyer Into Comic Opera.

"AT THE age of twenty-one I made a libretto for a comic opera which a canny manager refused to produce unless the composer and I raised $5,000. I telegraphed my father and he put up my share by wire. The opera lasted one night.

"Next I telegraphed him that I had a chance to buy into a very promising magazine for $500. I got in—and it cost him $2,000 to get me out when it died under my skillful editorship. "Before this, I had expected for a time to be a lawyer, but decided finally that I must be a professor of English literature. Then I gave up the idea of teaching English and decided to butcher it. I left Yale, and in a flare of romance told my father that I wanted to marry a girl I had met a few months before. He telegraphed me $500 and his blessing; and he made us an allowance for years.—Rupert Hughes."

TODAY: Rupert Hughes is a celebrated novelist and motion-picture producer. But this does not represent his early ambitions. When he took that flyer into comic opera he struck his stride for the time being. For many years after Hughes began his career, he was devoted to music. Himself a good pianist, he compiled an encyclopedia of music which is still in use and wrote many other works, even original musical compositions. He also edited a volume of pianoforte for music publishers.

It is a little known fact that Hughes' brother is a well-known vocal teacher in New York city, and his sister, before her death, achieved a notable success in Europe as a singer.

VOLTAIRE BUSINESS

ALREADY HERE:

PRINTER

EATS

VOLTAIRE STREET TOOK SEVERAL MORE STRIDES ON ITS STEADY MARCH TO FIRST PLACE AS A BUSINESS CENTER THIS WEEK, AND THE WAY THINGS HAVE BEEN HUMMING ON VOLTAIRE FROM ONE END TO THE OTHER IS SURELY PLEASING TO THE EAR.

Two more stores have been leased to established firms who will install their businesses in the most improved manner.

A first-class barber shop has been opened at 4957 Voltaire and we are told that the bird that has fitted it up knows his stuff from A to Z, and that his service and prices will make us all come back.

It looks as though we were going to have a real first-class restaurant and cafe on Voltaire, between Bacon and Cable, under the management of experienced men who have four other establishments in San Diego.

Three frontages that we know of changed hands on Voltaire this week and Sam Goldberg refused in excess of $8000 for his. Why? Be it also known that Mairot turned down $17,000 for his holdings. Why?

VOLTAIRE STREET is becoming so widely known as the future business street of all Point Loma that values are soaring every day, and owners with frontage on Voltaire are keen in grasping the situation and very wise in their determination to hold on.

Every residential street within four blocks either side of Voltaire is bound to enjoy the same popularity as Voltaire. Property owners on Muir, Long Branch, Brighton, Cape May, Lotus, Green, West Point Loma Boulevard, Larkspur, Seaside, Soto and Bolinas, are commencing to realize that they are riding on the rising tide and that very shortly they will laugh at what some of them are prone to accept today. The territory from Cape May to West Point Loma Boulevard and the tidelands is attracting outsiders greater and greater all the time. Every new improvement on Voltaire is an added asset to every inch of that territory and will make it.

COMING:

With every block on VOLTAIRE humming with activity; with improvements and plans for other improvements progressing rapidly; with the enthusiastic co-operation of all the property owners within 4 blocks either side of Voltaire helping all together as one for the betterment and upbuilding of the entire section from Cape May Avenue to West Point Loma Boulevard; how, then, can anyone longer remain in doubt or be skeptical regarding

Voltaire As The Center

And yet we have people within the above-named section who do not realize their opportunity, and have ordered us to sell their property at a figure that is ridiculous. Just read the four listed below and see YOUR opportunity. However, one man's loss is another's gain!

7-room house; garage, flowers and 50-foot frontage on Voltaire at De Foe St. Rents for $40 per month. This is in very center of all activity and only $4950 with a small payment down. How's that?

Goldberg & Mairot's new stucco on Lotus and Green streets, are real investments. Have them build you one; they'll change their plans for your needs; then sell it a little later for much more.

A fine large lot way up on the high end of Brighton. Lovely view that can never be taken away from you; $900 and on easy terms, and we know you will make big money on this real bargain.

6-room house, 3 lots altogether, on corner of paved street just off Voltaire. Fruit trees, flowers; double garage 'everything'; $4500, only $400 down, $30 month. Isn't that a gift? We think so.

CAN WE BE OF SERVICE TO YOU? WE MIGHT BE VERY HELPFUL.

ADULT BIBLE CLASSPROVES VERY SUCCESSFUL

AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The Adult Bible Class of the First Baptist Church School which was recently organized for young married and business women reached twenty in number last Sunday (Rally Day).

This is very gratifying indeed in view of the fact that the class is less than four months old. A most hearty welcome is extended to all to enroll in the class. This is the first movement of this kind in the history of the church, and those who have been attending enjoy greatly the Bible study and the social times.

A few weeks ago in a business session the class set a goal of twenty-five enrollment by the first Sunday in October, when the charter membership will close.

The department of class publicity states that "Those who have come as visitors in the past, and all others who will come, please remember that we count upon your presence next Sunday morning and each Sunday thereafter where it is possible for you to be there."

BALBOA THEATRE

Richard Barthelmess is coming to Balboa Theatre, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with "The Amateur Gentleman," an intensely colorful and stirring romance of merrie England during its brightest epoch. In this scheme Dick Barthelmess cuts a dashing figure.

In conjunction with the Thearle Music Company, Balboa Theatre is going to put on a "Harmonica Contest," to be staged each Saturday afternoon for three weeks, with three winners chosen each Saturday who will play in the finals. Any person playing the harmonica can make application to enter the contest at the Thearle Music Company. Three Hohner harmonicas will be given away each week during the three weeks, $20, $10, and $5 in gold.

Al Abbott, expert harmonica player, appearing at the Balboa Theatre this week has inspired a love and respect for the little instrument, "because it is the boy's first outward expression of the music in his soul." Lyons says that "every boy should have a good harmonica." He started playing when less than five years of age.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Florence Vidor will appear at Balboa Theatre in her latest Paramount photoplay, "You Never Know Women." The picture is magnificent and absorbing. A compelling love drama takes one behind the theatre scene where a Russian vaudeville company is having its first American showing, into luxurious metropolitan homes, and along the New York river front. Lowell Sherman supports Miss Vidor.

Fanchon and Marco present their "San Francisco Beauties Idea," in conjunction with the screen feature. The group of artists appearing are the original players who will come fresh from a two year engagement at Lowe's Warfield Theatre in San Francisco.

CABRILLO THEATRE

Every once in a while a picture comes to town at which the inveterate movie-goer has a grand time. Such a film is Raoul Walsh's production, "The Lucky Lady," which comes to Cabrillo Theatre one week starting Friday.

Lionel Barrymore gives a distinguished performance as the dissolute roue, a role just a bit reminiscent of the part he played in "Enemies of Women." As fine a bit of pantomime as has been seen on our screen in many moons, is the sequence in which Miss Nissen disguises herself as a coquette in order to prove that the roue's heart is fickle. And on seeing the girl, he forgets his professed love for the princess, but follows the little beauty.

The two other featured players, William Collier Jr. and Marc MacDermott, each give the splendid performances for which they can always be counted on. Collier is the young American lover and MacDermott, the prime minister who is "promoting" Barrymore's marriage to the princess. Raymond Godden occupies a top feature spot with his popular musical programs. Kinograms and other short reels round out the program.

Community Building

"Fresh Pastures" Best for Dissatisfied Man

Many living in the large centers of population long for the freedom and quiet of the countryside. They want to be away from the din, the tension and the nervous strain incident to life in the cities where the per capita per city block is far too high. And to large numbers living in small communities and the sparsely populated rural country, city life has a fascination that is well nigh irresistible—that leads some to violate the law in order to enjoy the intoxication of the crowd.

But the truth is that being satisfied with the place where you live does not depend upon the place so much as upon the individual himself. If he makes an honest effort to adjust himself to the conditions in the community, be it large or small, in which he lives, he will grow to be satisfied, to be comfortable and happy. If he is making the most of his talents there, he cannot ask for more. If he is dissatisfied, he is doing himself an injustice. Those who nurse a grievance against their communities should find new locations. They are harming themselves and the place they call home.—Rushville (Ind.) Republican.

Wardens Employed to Protect Roadside Trees

The roadside tree law, passed by the 1914 legislature in Maryland, was the result of the complaint of many citizens concerning the abuses chargeable to pole line companies. Under this law the services of a warden are required to supervise the work of tree trimming by any pole line company when the trees are within the right-of-way of any public road. The administration of the law lies with the state forestry department. Compensation to the wardens is paid by the forestry department, which, in turn, is authorized to collect from persons or corporations requesting assistance in roadside tree planting.

The Maryland Court of Appeals extended the constitutionality of this law at the time of a telephone company's suit on April 9, 1915, and at present there are about 50 wardens assigned to tree work, most of them supervising the work of the different pole line companies.

The Maryland forestry department number of cities and towns in the state which, through the department's work, now have tree census information and improvement plans for their streets.—Kansas City Times.

Planting the Home

There is an old saying to the effect that "it's not a home until it's planted." A house may have cost thousands of dollars, but if it stands stark and bare, with nothing to tie it to its surroundings, as the landscapers put it, it lacks the atmosphere of conformity, of "homeliness." Therefore, in the planning for a home the lawn should be considered as a most important feature, for it forms, as it were, a setting for the picture. The planting of the trees and the shrubbery must be done with the idea of bringing out the best in the surroundings and of hiding any defects that may exist. A portion of the grounds should be reserved for an unbroken stretch of green grass to be kept clean and well mowed, with no shrubbery scattered over it to mar the effect of velvety smoothness. Where short walks are necessary, stepping stones are now regarded as preferable to solid cement.

Benefit of Zoning System

With the zoning system becoming general there is a brighter outlook for American cities, most of which have grown in rather haphazard fashion. The comparative benefits to these cities will depend largely on the intelligence, the taste and the courage of the zoning authorities. Some of these authorities will have much larger vision than others; they will plan for the indefinite future; they will make changes and adjustments as time and conditions direct. While in some instances they will prevent selfish exploitation, and make impossible certain profits that selfish indulgence might produce, the great result will be city-wide gain, materially and culturally.

Good in Civic Pride

Pride in the home is a very beautiful, and without a very common virtue in American life, but civic pride is this and much more. Civic pride is one that sets the high standards both for the individual and for the community. And when civic pride has succeeded in beautifying the community a very forward step, has been taken toward beautifying the lives of those who dwell in that community.

Up to the Citizens

No city can be beautiful, no matter what its building regulations may be, if its people are slovenly in keeping their places of business and residence, and if the administrative forces are ineffective in enforcing the regulations that may be had in spite of this individual indifference.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

THE TREE FROGS

"Wake Up! Wake Up!"

"When we're out in the big world," said Grandfather Tree Frog, croaking as he spoke, "we are wide awake when spring first comes."

"At the very first sign of spring we are ready to welcome it."

"We do not wait until spring has unpacked all her belongings and has really settled down."

"We do not want to miss a minute of spring so we are wide awake at the very first call, or rather, the very first whisper that spring gives."

"There are some creatures who wait until later. There are always some who do not in any case wake up the first time they are called."

"They have to be called again and again before they are actually awake and up."

"They say: 'Just a few minutes more and then I'll get up.'"

"Or they say: 'Just one more little doze and then I'll get up.'"

"But that is not the way it is with us when spring comes."

"Of course we have had long, long, long naps. But even people who have slept all they have really needed to sleep will urge for a few minutes more of sleep in the mornings when they are awakened."

"But that is not the way it is with us when spring first gives her earliest spring whisper."

"We can always hear it."

"We hear her say: 'Little Tree Frogs, I am here. I've not unpacked as yet, and I may still chat a bit with Old Man Winter and hear what he has done and he may tell me stories of cold weather.'"

"When he talks like that you know he gets excited and his cold voice grows louder."

"It is then that people say that it is most unreasonable weather."

"But no matter, you will get up. I know. You will not wait for anyone to wake you on a really warm day."

"So spring talks to us in her whispering voice. Later she speaks louder and calls out to all the springtime flowers and the birds and the woods and the streams and the butterflies and the trees."

"I'm here. Wake up, wake up, wake up. Not another moment of sleeping!"

"We begin to chirp or to pipe or to sing or make our bright little sounds—you may call them what you wish."

"Here in the zoo we're wide awake most of the time as we don't find any banks to sleep in for the long cold months."

"They are fond of us here in the zoo. They say that we are so cheerful and bright. They say that though we aren't unusual tree frogs we are very nice, pleasant ones."

"They say it is better to be cheerful and pleasant than it is to be unusual and very interesting."

"Well, our family gave some good concerts last summer, didn't they?"

"So we heard," said the other frogs.

"They used to sing most joyfully in their funny little voices when it had been sunny and dry for a long, long time and when at last there was going to be rain, for they knew it—they could feel it in the air."

"Ah, then those who were looking forward to the rain would smile and say: 'The tree frogs are telling us that the rain is on the way.'"

"Nor did our family make any mistakes."

"We're good little weather prophets, eh, Grandfather?" asked the young Tree Frogs.

"You are indeed," said Grandfather Tree Frog, "and so have all the members of our family been for years even longer than I remember."

"So we will always be. Our songs of gladness when the rain is coming after a dry spell will be taught to all the little frogs as long as there are tree frogs in the world or in the zoo."

"And every little tree frog felt sure that what Grandfather Tree Frog said was quite, quite true."

Diagram of the Selective Five-Tube Receiver Described in This Article. The Apparatus Indicated in Dotted Line Is Optional.

By FRANK W. HARTH.

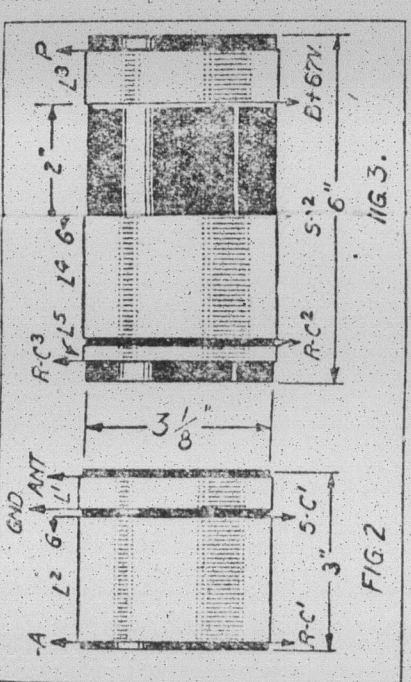

In the New York Herald-Tribune. There is nothing particularly new in this circuit, which is the old Wengert, with a few variations. The set originally was designed for local reception only, but one local did not come in very well, so a stage of radio-frequency was added. A location in the center of Manhattan was selected for a test.

The set is fairly compact, the panel being 7 by 21 inches and the baseboard 12 by 20 inches.

The chief claim of novelty is the placing of the R. F. secondary, and regenerative coils on one form and having them all of the same diameter. This simplifies the work somewhat.

There are five tubes, a R. F. amplifier, a detector and three audio amplifiers. The author selected the type of audio amplifier used because the transformer gives a strong initial input, free from distortion, for the two resistance-coupled stages to amplify. The result is a signal of surprising fidelity.

The coils are of the ribbed type of hard rubber tubing, recommended for its high electrical efficiency. There are 12 ribs running lengthwise of the tube and spaced equally around the circumference. The turns of wire, touching only the tops of the ribs, leave a space under the coils and provide practically an air core. The antenna coil was wound (as shown in Fig. 2) with No. 22 D. C. C. wire, 15 turns for the primary coil (L1) and 46 turns for the secondary (L2).

Constructional Data on Antenna and Radio-Frequency Coil of Receiver.

The coil form shown in the drawing (Fig. 3) performs a threefold duty—that of supporting the R. F. primary, the R. F. secondary and the regenerative coil. The R. F. primary coil is composed of 20 turns of No. 22 D. C. C., the R. F. secondary coil (L1) of 46 turns of No. 22 D. C. C., and the regenerative coil (L2) of 12 turns of No. 20 D. C. C. The spacing between the R. F. primary and the R. F. secondary must be two inches, or slightly more may prove even better. The regenerative coil (L2) is spaced about one-eighth inch from the secondary.

To obtain a variable condenser of .0002 capacity for the regenerative a larger condenser can be used by removing a number of the rotor plates. In this case a .00035 was used, after removing four rotor plates, which brought the capacity down to approximately .0002 mfd.

The inductance forms can be fastened directly to the baseboard with a wood screw or elevated a half inch, or so on S-shaped strips of brass. One end of the S is then bolted to the form and the other end screwed to the baseboard.

For best results a good audio transformer should be used, one of not too high a ratio. One of the modern large-sized transformers should give ideal results. The resistance couplers should, of course, be of the highest grade to balance the audio transformer. A little pains taken to obtain the right resistance values is really worth while, as the builder will be amply repaid by the results obtained.

Only two vernier dials are required, as the regenerative condenser is not critical. Three dials of the same design make a better-looking panel.

The R. F. tube may or may not require a negative bias, depending, of course, on the characteristics of the particular tube. From one and one-half to three volts usually will make the tube function properly. To include a "C" battery at this point, remove the lead X-X1, as shown in Fig. 1.

The value of the "C" battery used in the audio circuit may be anything from four and a half volts to blue volts or more if ninety or more volts of "B" battery are used. Most audio amplifiers work better with a "C" battery, and the saving of "B" battery is considerable in the long run.

The set should ordinarily tune from 200 to 526 meters smoothly and with equal volume. However, the author found one set in several he built that was for some reason or other a little tricky on wave lengths under 300 meters—that is, it had a tendency to spill over and was difficult to balance. This tendency was corrected by making use of the Rice system of neutralization. This consists of an inductance and a neutralizing condenser. These parts are indicated in the drawing to show their location, but need only be used if difficulty is experienced on the low wave lengths. There is, however, only one chance in a hundred of a set being required. The coil is composed of the same number of turns as the R. F. coil and is wound directly over the R. F. coil.

The tube in the last stage can be a 201-A if the horn type of loud speaker is used. However, if the builder intends to use a cone-type speaker, he will require a greater output voltage properly to vibrate the cone. The use of a 201-A power is suggested here as a suitable means of providing the necessary power without distorting the signal. An amperite or similar filament control device of one-half ampere capacity must be provided for this type of tube.

The choke and large condenser shown in the diagram can be used or not as the builder sees fit. With their use the output signal will be much smoother, as the heavy direct current is bypassed through the choke instead of being allowed to pass through the speaker coil.

Parts Required. The following is a list of parts actually used, but there is no reason why the set would not work well if other equally suitable parts of good quality were substituted:

One cabinet, 21 inches long and 12 inches deep.

One baseboard, 7 by 20 inch wood.

Brass strip, 1/2 by 1-1/2. See text.

Evening Tailormades

The two-piece evening frock of lame or brocade silk often has a V neckline and a suggestion of a tie—all very attractive because of its incongruity.

The Use of Black

Black is used very effectively to trim light-colored frocks. A bouffant model of rose taffeta with a ruffled skirt has a neck, tie and belt of black satin.

Satin and Patent Leather

Satin shoes for afternoon are rarely seen, patent leather with intricate incrustations of suede being the choice for those occasions when a black shoe is demanded.

Black, Silver and Blue

An unusually picturesque costume is of black satin with a jabot that extends from shoulder to hemline, of silver lame applied with a fold of king blue satin.

GIRLS OF SCHOOL AGE LEARN VALUABLE LESSON

Find Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Dependable Medicine

LOUISE LOUTHAN
ROUTE 2, CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS

From the days of the polio to the days of the radio, mothers have given this dependable medicine to their daughters. School girls are often careless. They get wet feet. They overstudy or they tire themselves with too many dances and parties. They get run down.

Many an active girl of today, like the demure maiden of the 1870's, has found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is helping her to find better health and energy.

"I gave my fifteen-year-old girl

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it did her a wonderful lot of good. She had been out of school for four months. I read the advertisements of the Vegetable Compound, and since she has taken it she has improved and has gone back to school again. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be."—Mrs. ALICE LOUTHAN, Route 2, Charleston, Illinois.

"My daughter was out of school two terms. I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all my life and finally decided that she should try it. Three bottles helped her in various ways for the next couple of years."—Mrs. W. B. GILBERT, 986 E. 52nd Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

"I have always been sickly, and until I was fourteen my father was very strict about my perfect attendance at grammar school. I have gone to school through hard storms and often taken cold. When I was fourteen I took to my bed and did not get up for eighteen months. Everyone thought I could not live. Just four months ago I began taking your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I could notice a great change almost at once. Now I feel like a new person. I wish all girls would try Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful medicine."—Mrs. C. M. SMITH, Union Village, Vermont.

Los Angeles Business Man Suffering Months From Constipation, Indigestion and Run-Down Condition Regains Health with Tanlac

Mr. Harry Franklin, a well-known Los Angeles manufacturer with offices at 918 Broadway, says: "My experience proves that nearly everyone can now have good health. After many months of indigestion and constipation, months that ended by my being in a badly run-down condition, I regained good health, new strength and calm nerves... Thanks to Tanlac."

"Imagine not being able to eat without suffering from tormenting pains and the burning sensation of indigestion. The poisons caused by sluggish liver and constipation ravaging my system, left me tired and draggy all the time, with no energy for my work."

"Then I turned to Tanlac, determined to give it a fair trial. From the first bottle it helped me. Within a few weeks I found myself with more energy than I had known in months, a fine appetite, good digestion—I feel that I could eat nails without harm—I am so built up in every way."

"I now enjoy robust health and work all day at top speed without tiring. But I have not stopped taking Tanlac, for it is the one way to continued good health, to top strength and energy. My wife, too, highly praises Tanlac. She is inclined to be delicate and has found that Tanlac has preserved her health and strength for many years. Everyone should take this wonderful tonic."

Tanlac has helped thousands of Californians. It is Nature's own remedy made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula. The first bottle usually brings wonderful relief from pain. Keep up the treatment and you grow stronger, healthier, more robust.

SCHOOLGIRL'S AUTUMN FROCK; ANENT DAINY UNDERTHINGS

JUST about now by the calendar, school and schoolgirl are deeply engrossed in a pursuit of knowledge other than higher mathematics, a study far more complex and surely more fascinating. This particular course of learning has to do with "clothes" and the most engrossing chapters treat especially on good-dressing in school-room and on campus. This delving into fashion literature is an annual prologue to the "first day of school."

The general rule as set down by Madame Mode insists that schoolgirl apparel, while actually abounding in subtle intriguing details, must never-afternoon. Better order James to bring the limousine to the door prompt and early in the morning, for it is going to prove an all-day tour you will be wanting to make, once you glimpse fashion's fairyland as staged this season in the lingerie specialty shops and departments.

Or perhaps you are of the number who take pleasure and pride in making your prettiest lingerie in preference to buying. If so the recipe according to which Dame Fashion is styling the daintiest, choicest undergarments which go to make up the new season's showing is as follows: Mix yards and yards and "then some" theless at all times give the impression of sweet simplicity. For autumn, 1926, materials sprightly in color are given highest mention, specifying as leading in favor the following: jersey weaves, fine flannel, covert, rep, a new basket-woven worsted, and wool crepe for solid colored fabrics while plaids and checks feature among novelties.

In regard to the styling of school dresses certain outstanding details are given, such as sleeves must be long, girlish turnover collars fit close up to the throat, fullness in skirts is attained by plaits most frequently, although many models call for shirring or smocking. Indeed the subject of shirring is a very new and important one in the latest fashion curriculum. Bolero treatments are various and numerous and a belt and buckle with every dress bids fair to be the rule.

Speaking of belts, they are as often of the material of the dress as of of filmy lace or footing, if preferred, with adorable ribbons galore. Apply these deftly to deliciously colorful crepe, crepe-back satin, georgette or voile in connection with profuse fine tucking, shirring, hand-embroidery, applique and the like. The lazier the garment the better.

Here are some general notes on the subject of beautiful lingerie "as now is," according to fashion's report. Pajamas are all but usurping the place of the gown. Here and there the leather. In either event the buckle must not be omitted. Illustrative of a very proper and pleasing schoolgirl frock is the one shown in the picture. It is of wine-colored wool crepe and it has the inevitable buckled belt, also please observe that there is a bit of shirring at each shoulder, for shirring is taking place with tucks or plaits in matter of importance.

Such a wilderness of beauty! We are speaking of the oh-so-lovely underthings which make up fashion's collection for the forthcoming months. Here is a word of advice to maiden and matron planning the buying of new lingerie—put not off the shopping tour until the wee sma' hours of the waistline is taking a higher position on chemise. Necklines on gowns are apparently favoring the round version.

In some instances the short bloomer holds sway in autumn lingerie sets, at least it is competing with the costume slip. Step-in drawers are also favored such as the picture shows. It has lacy insets with footing for edging. The fabric for this garment may be of crepe satin or crepe de chine or colorful cotton crepe. Peach and flesh tints remain first in favor, though all pastel shades are well thought of while black lingerie is the very latest.

Decapitation Adds
to Insects' Lives

At a recent session of the Academy of Science Professor Bouvier read a curious paper written by R. P. Cambouet, noted entomologist and for many years a missionary in Madagascar. The purport of the paper was to the effect that the lives of butterflies could be prolonged by cutting their heads off in such a way as to avoid a hemorrhage—an operation which, it would appear, can be performed by an expert.

Cambouet declares that he has tried the experiment successfully with eighty butterflies and that his patients—if that is the word—not only retained "all" their faculties and were able to reproduce their species, but the average span of their lives in every case was prolonged by from one to two weeks.

Electric Companies Earn

On Money Invested!

NOT ON STOCKS AND BONDS

Some folks think that electric rates are made high enough to pay dividends on any amount of stock a power company may have issued.

That is a mistake. Rates are only allowed by the Railroad Commission sufficient to cover a fair rate of interest on money actually invested in plants and equipment if the Commission believes these investments are reasonable. How much or how little stock may be outstanding has no bearing on the rate.

That is one way electric customers in this state are protected from exorbitant rates.

Don't forget these.

FACTS

- The cost of living is 65% higher than in 1913.
- The cost of electricity is less than in 1913.
- There is some use of electricity that will make life better for you. Ask our Commercial Department to help you find it.
